Breaking News: 2024 Summer Sunday Series

A Star-Studded Line-up

Theme: *The City in which we Live, Move, and Have our Being

Sundays at 9:30 am in Finlator Hall

Following our summer tradition of having one Sunday group in the summer for all adults, we have invited a “star-studded” line-up of Raleigh leaders to come share their perspectives on what’s happening in our city. Each guest comes from an institution or organization that is vital to the city in which we live, move, and have our being—The City of Oaks. They will share how their institution or organization is making a difference in Raleigh, what plans they are making for the future, and how a church like ours can be a good neighbor and/or partner. You might ask, “Why is it important for us as a church to hear from these leaders?” As we move forward with our strategic plan over the next several years, hearing and learning about what is happening around us will help guide how we continue to respond to the needs around us. Hearing from these leaders will help us assess if we are focusing in the right directions or if we need to adjust some of our priorities.

So, without further delay, here is the line-up of guests for the month of June. Speakers from three other organizations are still being confirmed for July. On August 4 and 11, the Deacons will guide us in reflecting on what we heard and learned from our guest speakers.

June 2 – Chancellor Randy Woodson, Chancellor of North Carolina State University

June 9 – Nic Neptune, Dix Park Conservancy

June 16 – Maggie Cane, A Place at The Table

June 23 – Bynum Walter, City of Raleigh Planning Commission

June 30 – Meredith Yuckman, The Hope Center at Pullen

July 7 – No Sunday Group (4th of July weekend)

July 14 – United Arts Council of Raleigh Representative

July 21 – One Wake Representative

July 28 – Interfaith Panel of Religious Leaders

August 4 – Pullen Deacons

August 11 – Pullen Deacons

I know summer is a time of travel and vacation for people, but I hope you will make plans to attend the 2024 Summer Sunday Group series when you are in town. Or better yet, plan your time away so that you are back in town on Sunday. This is a unique opportunity to hear from these city leaders in our “home.” Let’s have a full house for our kick-off on June 2 and give Chancellor Woodson a generous Pullen welcome. Come learn more about what is happening in the city in which we live, move, and have our being.

Exploring the Bible

May 5, & 12 in Room 307

For the final three weeks of the 2023-24 Sunday Group year in Exploring the Bible:

- For May 5, Katie Founds will continue in her Sabbath Series by leading us in looking in depth at one or two of the Gospel stories we read about Jesus healing on the Sabbath, so we can look more closely at context and nuance.
- On the 12th, Katie will wrap up her Sabbath Series talking about some basic contemporary Christian and Jewish practices and their connection to Biblical texts.

North Carolina's Political Landscape and a Faith Response

May 5 in Room 203

May 5 – Rev. Rob Stephens will offer his perspective on a faithful response to the moral issues impacting this election, specifically in North Carolina. Rob will also discuss ways that people of faith can be involved in our state and national elections. Rob is an organizer with Repairers of the Breach and the Poor People's Campaign. He also served on Cheri Beasley's campaign for US Senate. Rob is a dear friend of Pullen Church.

Eco-Theology and Eco-Spirituality 101: Part 2

May 5 in Room 310

Rev. Ian McPherson will lead part 2 of the Eco-Theology 101 class lifting up some Biblical and Christian theo-ethical approaches to environmental justice and creation care. Together we will encounter artists, activists, church leaders, and scholars who will embolden our faithful response to the climate crisis and reconnect us with our faith's deep reverence for God's Creation.

Intentional Transition

May 12 & 19 in Room 203

At the time of a death, there are so many stressors. The grief, itself, is overwhelming. Overlay the grief with having to attend to all the aspects of a burial, funeral/memorial service, and other necessary details, a family can quickly become overwhelmed. After almost 40 years of being with families in times of death, I have noticed that the more intentional a person can be about their wishes upon their death it can truly be a gift to their loved ones. Things like having prepared a draft of the obituary, writing down wishes for burial (cremated or buried), memorial service, and other vital information to help the grieving family in remembering and celebrating the life of their loved one.

This two-session Sunday Group, facilitated by our pastor, will be a practical workshop on intentional planning around death. We will discuss the common structure of an obituary and spend some time writing down important transitions in our lives. We will also work through a worksheet on planning a funeral/memorial service. We will also discuss how to communicate to our families our hopes and wishes in our final days.

Open Mic Poetry Reading

May 12 & 19 in the Chapel

Poetry is a way to the heart, mind, and soul often giving expression to our deepest spiritual longings. Our sacred text, the Bible, contains quite a bit of poetry, especially in the Psalms. All throughout history, it has been the sacred writings of poets that have opened our eyes, ears, and hearts to the mystery of both the human and spiritual experience.

In this two-week Open Mic Poetry Reading Sunday group, participants are invited to bring a poem or two to read (original or by your favorite poet) and then briefly share what the poem means to you. This session will be facilitated by Ian McPherson.

-Nancy E. Petty, Pastor

Join David Disher's Conversation with Pullen Mission Women about the Food and Nutrition Program at Urban Ministries

Tuesday, May 7 at 10:00 am on Zoom - contact Pat Long for the link

How does Pullen work to reduce local food insecurity? One way is our long partnership with Urban Ministries of Wake County (urbanmin.org). In addition to giving through the Mission and Outreach budget, we collect nonperishable food at Pullen's Finlator entrance for the Food and Nutrition program. Join Pullen Mission Women as we learn about hunger in Wake County, how Urban Ministries addresses the problem, how our contributions are used, and how we can give most effectively. David Disher, director of the Food and Nutrition program, will join us on Zoom on May 7 at 10 AM for an informative discussion. Since the food collection is a church-wide effort, we invite all Pullenites to mark your calendar and join us as you are able! Contact Pat Long for the zoom link. I will always believe in the words of a song that I learned at 4, Jesus loves all the children of the world.

How do you imagine yourself growing with this community? I would love to serve God by helping others as Jesus wants me to do. I am politically active and believe that everyone deserves the same rights and the opportunity to live with dignity. I am just looking for a place where I can do some good and to have a feeling of belonging.

Promised Land Museum Exhibit in Finlator Hall

May in Finlator Hall

In an effort to continue the work of understanding the history of the Middle East, particularly the relationship of Palestine and Israel, we have secured an exhibit that contains six double-sided panels. It will be on the stage in Finlator this month for all to review and learn at your leisure. It is called the Promised Land, The Jewish Museum of the Palestinian Experience. It is on loan to us from Dr. Stephen Feldman, a native of Winston-Salem. Dr. Feldman is an American Jewish physician who has extensively traveled to Israel and Palestine, and he is the curator of this exhibit. Here is a link to preview the exhibit: Promised Land Museum.

The exhibit was previously at Binkley Baptist Church in Chapel Hill and will go to Watts Street Baptist Church, in Durham after Pullen in late May.

There will be a sign in sheet at the beginning of the exhibit and we ask that you please sign in. Thanks!

Camp Pullen:

July 8-12 at 9:00 am-5:00 pm Monday-Thursday, 9:00 am - 12:00 pm Friday

Camp Pullen is hosting another awesome children's day camp this summer! It's a whole week of fun for kids who have finished Kindergarten through Fifth Grade. Our theme this year is all about "What Every Living Thing Needs." We'll be diving into how important it is to take care of our planet and all the living creatures on it. Humans are a part of this amazing creation, but we want to focus on understanding the needs of every living thing - like shelter, food, water, air, and community. And of course, we'll explore how humans can show compassion towards the more-than-human world when it comes to meeting those needs.

Now, for the logistics. The times for Camp Pullen this summer are 9:00 am - 5:00 pm on Monday - Thursday and 9:00 am to Noon on Friday. Drop-off begins at 8:30 am, and pick-up is by 5:20 pm. Families may pick up children at noon if this works best for their family.

Exciting, right? We can't wait to have a blast with your kids this summer!

May HOST Update

As the spring semester concludes, HOST has seen more referrals for students seeking summer housing. Surprisingly, we are already receiving inquiries for help with housing for the fall semester, revealing some of the ongoing challenges faced by students in securing and maintaining accommodation.

Financial barriers are the biggest obstacle students face, with inadequate aid to cover housing and tuition expenses for many students, particularly those lacking familial support. Additionally, qualifying for leases with limited income poses a hurdle for many full-time students and international students who have visa limitations on where and how much they can work. The absence of guarantors further complicates matters, as landlords often require proof of income or a co-signer, a resource unavailable to many students due to familial circumstances or financial constraints.

Moreover, transitioning between housing arrangements can leave students temporarily without housing. This situation is common among students moving between on-campus and off-campus housing or facing gaps between summer housing and the start of fall leases.

Looking ahead, HOST anticipates a busy summer as it recruits new host homes to accommodate students for the upcoming fall semester. If you want to learn more about the barriers contributing to college student homelessness or want to consider hosting, please register at <https://www.hostnc.org/hostinfo> for a monthly information session. If hosting is not an option for you, please consider talking to your friends, neighbors, and coworkers about the need to support college students and ask them to consider hosting.
